

Two Days Faculty Development Programme on

Free and Open Source Software (FOSS)

jointly organized by

Uttarakhand Technical University, Dehradun

and

The ICFAI University, Dehradun

24th -25th June 2017 (Saturday-Sunday)

About FOSS (Free Open Source Software)

Free and Open-Source Software (FOSS) is computer software that can be classified as both free software and open-source software. It implies that anyone is freely licensed to use, copy, study, and change the software in any way, and the source code is openly shared so that people are encouraged to voluntarily improve the design of the software. This is in contrast to proprietary and commercial software which are under restrictive copyright and the source code is usually hidden from the users. The benefits of using FOSS include decreasing software costs, increasing security and stability (especially in regard to malware), protecting privacy, and giving large number of users more control over their own hardware.

Details Regarding FDP

The Faculty Development Programme (FDP) is jointly by the Uttarakhand Technical University (UTU), Dehradun (A State Government University) and The ICFAI University, Dehradun, and designed for the enhancement of knowledge in FOSS (Free and Open Source Software) among the masses.
