

Message of Vice Chancellor on beginning of Spring Semester 2022-23

It's my privilege to welcome all teachers and students back to the institutional campuses after a brief winter break for onboarding into the spring semester of the 2022-23 academic session. The commencement of the second semester of this academic session is the forward march by students in their making as a professional. It is indeed a very special occasion for the final year students for whom it marks the countdown before passing out of the portals of the institution and university.

You are aware that for quite some time the Veer Madho Singh Bhandari Uttarakhand Technical University has been endeavoring to offer the best quality education to its students and the changes have begun. The implementation of new ordinances & syllabi for different programs and its implementation from the academic session 2022-23 in line with NEP-2020 demonstrates the University's commitment to offer futuristic technical and professional education. The integration of major UG degree programs with minor specializations from the respective disciplines and across the disciplines has transformed the University's B Tech degree programs in the most impressive manner to suit the available employment opportunities.

The digital initiatives culminating in University Management System has brought the whole of the University family comprising of students, teachers, heads of institutions, and University officials together on a common web platform successfully. I am happy to share that from this semester the University has set up an Attendance Management System for monitoring classroom progress across its Institutions which can also be used by the Institutional heads to monitor attendance and course coverage progress in the classrooms. With the support of subject teachers submitting their class attendance daily will help students for self-correction and teachers for making required interventions. The attendance data shall also be accessible to the parents/guardians to get insight of their ward. Also, the efforts are put in for arriving at complete transparency in the evaluation of final examination answer books to strengthen the credibility of the examination-evaluation system in the University. Undoubtedly, these transformations have teething troubles and the same are being gradually resolved for having a virtuous teaching-learning-evaluation system along with a robust, efficacious and transparent regulation.

The University's mandate to all institutions to identify a few sustainable development goals (SDGs) for engaging its intellectual capabilities in finding solutions to socially relevant problems has the potential to open newer opportunities for the students and teachers. It is pertinent to mention that the University envisages creating a compendium of all efforts made by its institutions towards the realization of SDGs prescribed by the United Nations. Therefore, all institutions must involve their students and teachers in undertaking real-life problem-solving that will also nurture experiential learning and comprehensive working capabilities.

On this day of the commencement of even semester activities, I call upon the teachers and heads of institutions to ensure the conduction of student-centric teaching in theory and laboratory classes with the highest rigour and inculcate a good value system in the learner's right from the beginning of this semester. Also, all concerned are requested to help students in personality building, soft skill development, team working, games & sports, and good physical and mental health while mentoring them to realize their passion and dreams.

Let us work collectively for upgrading the academic standards and accomplishing the highest ethical standards in all University activities and create worthy professionals who can take civilization forward.

*With Best Wishes.

Date: 13th February, 2023
